

Planting-based eating pattern
 consists of vegetables, fruits, whole grains, legumes, nuts, and seeds.

Benefits

Planting-based eating pattern is associated with a lower risk of heart disease, type 2 diabetes, and certain cancers. It is also associated with a lower risk of obesity and high blood pressure.

Planting-based eating pattern

Planting-based eating pattern is associated with a lower risk of heart disease, type 2 diabetes, and certain cancers.

Planting-based eating pattern is associated with a lower risk of obesity and high blood pressure.

